There is a new song going the rounds of the press, which runs as follows: "We don't want to buy at your place, we won't trade there any more; you'll be sorry when you see us in some other store. You can't sell us any stale goods, we have opened wide our eyes; we don't want to trade at your store because you don't advertise."

Committees Expect Best Celebration Ever Had Here.

MARINES FROM NAVAL VESSELS WILL MARCH

PROGRAM OF ORATORY AND MUSIC WILL BE GIVEN AT THE CEMETERY ON UPPER NUUANU.

The plans for the observance of Memorial Day in Honolulu are about perfected. The committees of the local G. A. R. post are expecting the day will be marked by more impressive and magnificent service than has ever been witnessed in the city before. The presence of the war vessels will add greatly to the impressiveness of the procession. The men from the war vessels will be met at the wharf by military detachment and escorted to the place of the formation of the line. The public schools and other educational institutions in the city will be represented in the line of march.

The orator of the day will be General A. S. Hartwell. Mrs. A. B. Tucker will have the direction of the vocal music. Captain Paul Smith will be marshal of the day with C. G. Bartlett and A. F. Clark as aides.

The Memorial Day parade Monday afternoon will form on Beretania street the right resting on Emma street, in the following order:

1. Squad mounted police.
2. Band from flagship New York.

NEEDS NO DEFENSE THINK ASHFORD

Meheula Case Goes to Jury for Decision Today.

PROSECUTION RESTS AND DIRECTED VERDICT DENIED

COURT WAITS FOR GOVERNOR JACK — ASHFORD MAKES A WONDERFUL OBJECTION. END IN SIGHT.

Meheula's case goes to the jury this afternoon. C. W. Ashford, for defendant, started at 2 p. m. with his address to the determining twelve. His argument, in brief, is that the prosecution has utterly failed to make out a case; that there is official approval of Meheula's alleged irregular law-book transaction in the certificate of receipt bearing the signatures of Speaker Beckley and Purdy of the Committee on Accounts; that if there had been anything wrong in the transaction these signatures would not have been made. Ashford offered to put on no defense; he thought there was defense enough presented by the prosecution. When the prosecution rested its case, the defense, therefore, also rested. Ashford asked for a directed verdict, on the ground that the allegations of gross cheat had not been sustained by the evidence. This Judge De Bolt denied and argument proceeded this afternoon.

Trial of Solomon Meheula, alleged gross cheat in relation to the disposition of copies of Civil and Penal laws during the Legislative session of 1903, proceeded slowly before Judge De Bolt this morning. Those members of the House of Representatives who were not on the witness stand yesterday were called and soon disposed of, being asked only as to whether or not they received from the clerk of the House or any other official a copy or any copies of the laws above noted. Representative Kauden stated that he had not been presented with any book of laws.

Sergeant-at-arms Kaleo of the 1903 House was called by the prosecution and handed the receipt supposed to have been given to the chief clerk of the Secretary's office by Solomon Meheula as clerk of the House, when a free consignment of the required law books, in the Hawaiian language, was sent to the House by the executive department. He was asked by Attorney General Andrews whether the receipt on exhibition was that which Meheula had signed and he had returned to the Secretary's office. Kaleo stated that he had seen Clerk Meheula sign a receipt for the books, delivered to the House and he, Kaleo, had taken the receipt to a lady in the Secretary's office, whose name he did not know but whom he knew by sight. He believed that the document on exhibition was the receipt given by Meheula.

On cross examination by Ashford for the defense, Kaleo stated that he could only read a very little English (he was testifying through Interpreter Hopkins); that he had not read the receipt; that he did not know its contents and that he did not really know. (Continued on Page 8.)

MORE NAVAL VESSELS ARRIVE

Marblehead and Concord Join Admiral's Squadron.

CRUISERS OFFICERS GLAD TO SEE HONOLULU

INTERESTING FACTS RELATING TO THE VESSELS AND THEIR RECENT CRUISES TO PANAMA.

The cruiser Marblehead and the gunboat Concord arrived off port from San Francisco early this morning. They soon proceeded into the harbor, the Concord coming first and the Marblehead following. Salutes were exchanged with the Naval Station and the warships in the harbor. The Concord was moored in the stream on the Ewa side of the U. S. Naval collier Nero. The Marblehead was placed between the Nero and the Italian cruiser Liguria.

The two war vessels left San Francisco May 16 at 7 p. m., thus making the voyage in eight and one-half days. They kept together throughout the voyage, being only 400 to 800 yards apart. Fine weather was experienced. No vessels were sighted.

The Marblehead will take 250 tons of coal while in this port and the Concord 200 tons. Both vessels will take their coal from the U. S. naval collier Nero, which is lying in the stream. The Concord and the Marblehead came here to join Admiral Glass's fleet and will go with it on the cruise to Kieka and to the Coast.

The Marblehead is an unprotected cruiser. She was authorized in 1888 and built by the City Point Iron
